EDUX 7903: Cultivating Curriculum, Instruction, and Assessment

Podcast/Streaming Recommendations:

- The Cult of Pedagogy Podcast This podcast is hosted by Jennifer Gonzalez, educator and creator of the popular web platform of the same name. For each episode, Gonzalez interviews educators, students, caregivers, and administrators about the psychological and social dynamics of school, trade secrets, and “other juicy things you’ll never learn in a textbook.”
- The Creative Classroom podcast A major proponent of creativity and project-based learning, professor of education John Spencer brings podcast listeners into his world through well-researched explorations of human learning, thoughtful musings on what it means to be a teacher, interviews with other educators, and more. Many of his episodes are based on his own articles, but he does open the mic up to other voices on occasion.
- Truth for Teachers This podcast takes on many topics that go unspoken — how student-centered learning actually manifests in the classroom, which teaching “best practices” might not actually be best for students, and how teaching can change you as a person.
- Let's Talk Teaching The Center for Integrated Professional Development at Illinois State University invites expert guests to discuss teaching and learning for all instructors. Let’s Talk Teaching is active, with over 80 episodes.
- The Balance, by Dr. Catlin Tucker Dr. Catlin Tucker is a bestselling author, international trainer, and keynote speaker. She was named Teacher of the Year in 2010 in Sonoma County, where she taught for 16 years. Catlin earned her doctorate in learning technologies from Pepperdine University. Currently, Catlin is working as a blended learning coach, education consultant, and professor in a Masters of Arts in Teaching program. Catlin has published several books on blended learning, including The Shift to Student-led, The Complete Guide to Blended Learning, UDL and Blended Learning, and Balance with Blended Learning.
- The Learner-Centered Collaborative Podcast Join Katie Martin, host of the Learner-Centered Podcast, as she speaks with learner-centered leaders from across the country. From exploring the challenges we face in education today to celebrating the bright spots happening in communities like yours, each episode will help you get one step closer to realizing your learner-centered vision.
